1. Considering the complexities involved in producing PDD, validation, and verification, what kind of projects Pacific countries should focus on?
2. Pacific countries may have possibilities for bundling small projects or make them POA projects. What would you recommend is the preferred course?
3. Considering small nature of potential CDM projects and expensive validation due to remote location and small market, how do you recommend countries can reduce transaction costs related to validation and verification?
4. What are the special difficulties faced by the CDM projects in the Pacific in terms of DOE validation and verification?
5. What factors may affect the cost of DOE validation and verification in Pacific?
